THE 1969 TIGER

published annually by the students of lick-wilmerding high school

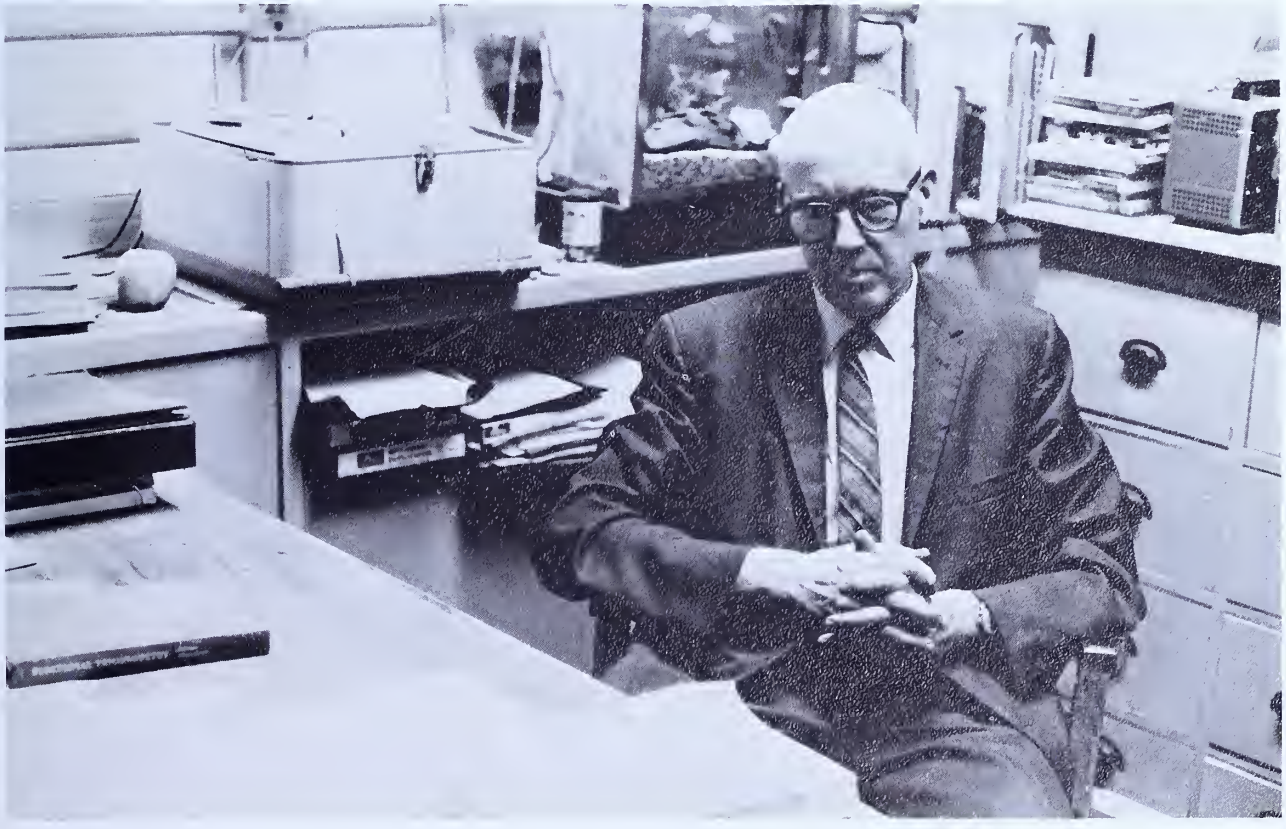
A man should judge himself, and be judged by others by what he believes and by what he attempts in pursuit of his beliefs. Relating to this, two things become immediately apparent about Mr. Ragland; first, that his beliefs have been constructed logically from what he has examined and found to be true in his life, and secondly, that he has no fear of standing firm on these beliefs, regardless of the opposition. As a teacher, he believes that the method of solving a problem is the only thing which can be taught to a student. He considers the significant and meaningful participation of the students in the functioning of this school, and that of people everywhere in the functioning of civilization, to be of critical importance.

His approach to all aspects of his life is based upon his various experiences with people as a veteran of thirty years of service in the Army Corps of Engineers, in capacities ranging from post-graduate work at M.I.T. in Civil Engineering, to leading a battalion of engineers on June 6, 1944, at the beach of Normandy, to being the Chief Engineer of the Seventh Army. His experiences with the leadership and the training of men led him to become interested in a career of teaching.

His ideas are directly demonstrated by his actions here at Lick. In his function as a teacher of math and physics, he demands that his students be responsible for their own education by individual effort to solve their own problems, through reading, practice in the solution of problems, and consultation with him. As an advocate of student responsibility, he has helped to promote the newly-adopted program of Flexible-scheduling; and he has promoted and advised the program of Student-Student Leadership. As well, he continues to contribute through his own physical labor, engineering projects for the purpose of repairing and improving the building and the grounds.

It is because of his service to all members of this school that the Class of 1969 dedicates this Yearbook to William W. Ragland.

Dedication



Faculty

The time again has come when the compilation of another school years account is presented in a permanent form, but the Tiger will show human figures rather than the sometimes confusing numerical figures contained in an Annual Report. The latter do not provide measures of success and failure. This report, instead, should show students in action leading to achievement. These accomplishments in a school year tell more than columns showing profits and losses which one must conjure with in the usual Annual Report. The Tiger attempts to show, dealing with that which is the School's real concerns, a picture with accompanying article representing an active gain which easily can be seen and reported. Losses and failures are known by each one of us but need not be regretted when there are so many more successes worth recording. The term's end is the time for looking to achievements and recording those plus the events for 1968-69.

For this year The Tiger has done an honest and creditable job. It is alive, reports its liveliness and gives a realistic picture of the past year. The Tiger has shown the pride in achievement by picture and report. To all of those students who have been responsible for the volume you hold great credit is due in submitting this report to the School and its archives. My deep appreciation is offered. 1968-69 is a well reported year; we are proud to add it to its place in Lick's long history.

Football

Anybody who saw them play will have to admit that the 1968 Football TIGERS played better football than their 0-5 record indicates. They were a scrappy team, which by hustle and desire made up for what they lacked in size. The entire team played hard, but if any one group deserves more praise than given most team members, it is those players who, due to the smallness of the team, played on both the offensive and defensive lines against larger and stronger foes. We at Lick-Wilmerding are very proud of our 1968 football team: a determined team which never gave up.

Kudos to Claster

JV to Stardom in One Year

Bill Claster is one person who takes pride in improving himself.

A senior at San Francisco's Lick Wilmerding High School, Claster has shown great ability at improving both his mental and physical well being.

As a junior, Claster was only a junior varsity basketball player. But this year Bill, a 6-0 guard, is not only on the varsity but is also leading the team in scoring.

His Best Ever

Last week he had the best game of his life, pouring through 41 points as LW clobbered San Rafael Military Academy. Add to that his last Friday's 21 digits against new rival John O'Connell and it's easy to see why Claster is The Examiner's San Francisco Prep Player of the Week.

Against SRMA he sank 16 of 30 floor shots, all nine free throws and also snatched seven rebounds and picked up eight assists. All of these are season highs for him.

That's quite an accomplishment for someone who couldn't even make the team last year. "I worked very hard on my jump shot all summer," Claster reveals. "Last year I didn't have a very good shot. My high game before last week was 29 points and that was in a jayvee game."

Place to Learn

Bill explains that he chose to attend Lick after he graduated from Madison Grammar school because "The ability to learn a great deal is available at Lick. The student to teacher ratio is about ten to one which is outstanding."

Basketball coach Jim Brovelli considers Claster the main reason that his team is still in the running for a tie for the Bay Counties League title. Claster is averaging more than 20 points a game and LW finished league play 12-2, only one game behind Menlo (12-1), which still has a game to play.—Cooney

J·V Basketball

1968-69 wasn't a great year for JV basketball at Lick. The Tiger Cubs, coached by "Super Stud" Don Taylor, were hampered by inexperience most of the season. They encountered a rather rough preseason, winning only one out of eight, but rebounded for an 8-6 League record. The Tigers were just outmanned by superior Emery (the League Champs), St. Vincent, and O'Connell teams, losing twice to each.

Stan Lotz was perhaps the most improved, if not the best player on the squad. A sophomore, Lotz was the Tigers' only consistent rebounder, and was named to the JV 2nd Team — All League Team. Two other standouts were Ed Tredinnick and John Wallace, who gave the Tigers most of their scoring punch during the season. Both made the 3rd Team — All League Team. Rounding out the starting five was hustling Forrest Rodgers and Bruce Fong. Others who saw a lot of action and made strong contributions were guards Doug Wainwright, Lindsey Robbins, and Dave Tahir. The team seemed to improve as the season progressed, culminating in impressive wins over SRMA and Menlo.

Basketball

The 1968-69 basketball season was the end of an era for Lick as the Tigers' streak of 6 consecutive BCL titles came to an end. However the Tigers, coached by Jim Brovelli, still had a great season, finishing with a record of 18-11 overall and 12-2 in league play. This was all accomplished despite the loss of the only returning starter from last year's undefeated champs, Tony Symmes, due to a fractured wrist suffered in the third game of the season. The Tigers were a small but well balanced ball club and had it not been for an upset by Concordia and a tough loss in overtime to the league champs Menlo, Lick could have been BCL champs again. Each player on the team made a significant contribution to the squad's success but there were a few who really were the core of the ball club. One was the Tiger's starting guard Bill Claster. Bill provided the main scoring punch for the Tigers, averaging nearly 20 points a game and as expected was named to the BCL All-League 1st team. Another standout was John Vonk, Lick's big center. John did a great rebounding job all season, hauling down 16 a game, and also gave Lick an added scoring punch, getting 10 points a game. John was a selection on the 2nd team All-League. But the real unsung hero, who gave Lick consistent performances all season was forward Dave Massie. Dave hit 11.4 points a game and was a solid defensive performer. Massie, to no one's surprise, was a choice on the 3rd team All-League. Others who were keys to the Tigers' success were forward Steve Wahler, guards Rick Amorose and Roger Grunwald, and forward Bill Bigarani, all of whom came through continuously in the clutch for the Tigers. The highlight of the season would have to be the 49-46 victory over Menlo which ruined an unbeaten league season for the arch-rival Acorns. In that game, the Tigers had been in command all the way, only to have Menlo tie it up at 46 all with 4 minutes remaining. But Claster came through as he did many times this year, hitting two points to put the Tigers ahead and ice the win. Champions they may not be, but a hustling, exciting, and fighting unit they were.

Soccer Team

TENNIS TEAM POINTS TOWARD CHAMPIONSHIP

This year's strong tennis team, bouncing back after a rather mediocre performance last year, figures to be a strong contender for the BCL title. The singles performers appear to be the key for Lick and they have responded well in the practice matches. In their opening league match tremendous singles efforts by Dave Tahir, Stu Rosenberg, and Dave Massie produced a win over the '68 Champions, Menlo. The doubles teams, still searching for a winning combination, however were tamed by Menlo's doubles teams. Competing for top double's spots in the league tournament will be Jon Presson, Charlie Mills, Forrest Rodgers, and Brian McKee.

Strong singles, potentially good doubles, and the excellent coaching of Jim Brovelli point to a great season in '69.

BASEBALL TEAM FIGURES TO BE STRONG CONTENDER

This year's Tiger diamond team, coached by Darrell Smith, promises to have a good shot at the BCL title. The squad was impressive in its practice games and opened the league season with a 7-1 win over John O'Connell. The key to success could lie in the pitching department where the Tigers have excellent depth. Heading the pitching corps is Bill Bigarani, who went all the way in the victory over O'Connell. Other moundsmen who will back up Bigarani are junior Eric "junk ball" Bogel and Senior Bill Schaupp. The catching department should be in good hands with junior John Wallace, who figures to be potent with bat also. The Tigers should have a good inner defense with Doug Wainwright at 1st base, Bob Kaufman at 2nd, Bill Knox at shortstop, and Norm Althausten at 3rd. The outfield positions will be manned by Rick Amorose, Bill Claster, and Mike Walker, who should give the team a lift both with the bat and in the field. All in all '69 could be the year for the Tigers to take it all in the BCL.

Track Team

Swimming

In our first two meets away from home, the varsity team, led by captain Clint Ashford, was successful in beating Petaluma and Terra Nova. Ashford put in an outstanding time of 57.6 seconds to break his old fly record. The "B" team led by Max Kniesche is hoping for another successful year in the conference.

To date, Wertsch and Gibbs have broken "B" records; with a promising rookie team and the return of Ashford, Daughty, Goldman, Cornish, Kniesche, McCooey, Shore, Tronoff, and Wilner, Coach Penn will be busy keeping the team in shape for the victory in May.

CLASS OF 1971
AUGUST 20, 1953—MARCH 19, 1969

"Death be not proud, though some have called thee
Mighty and dreadful, for, thou art not so,
For, those, whom thou think'st, thou doest overthrow,
Die not, poor death, nor yet canst thou kill me;
From rest and sleep, which but thy pictures be,
Much pleasure, then from thee, much more must flow,
And soonest our best men with thee do go,
Rest of their bones, and soul's delivery.
Thou art slave to Fate, chance, kings, and desperate men,
And dost with poison, war, and sickness dwell,
And poppy, or charms can make us sleep as well,
And better than thy stroke; why swell'st thou then?
One short sleep past, we wake eternally,
And death shall be no more; Death, thou shalt die."

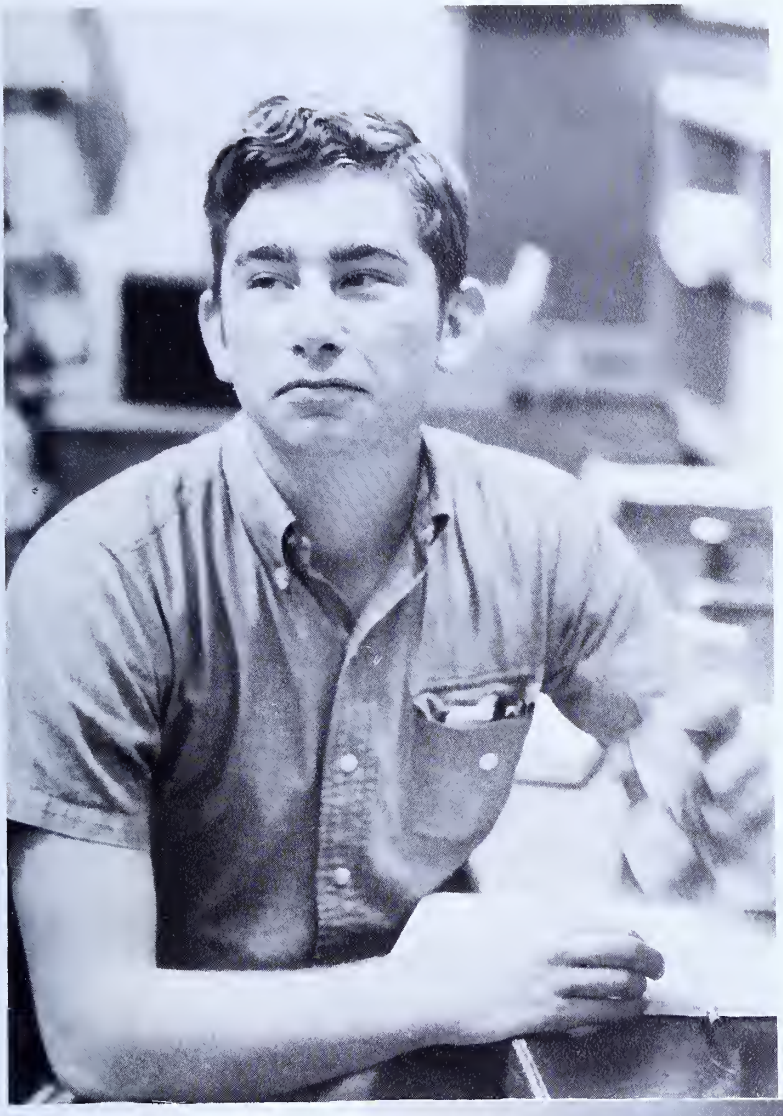
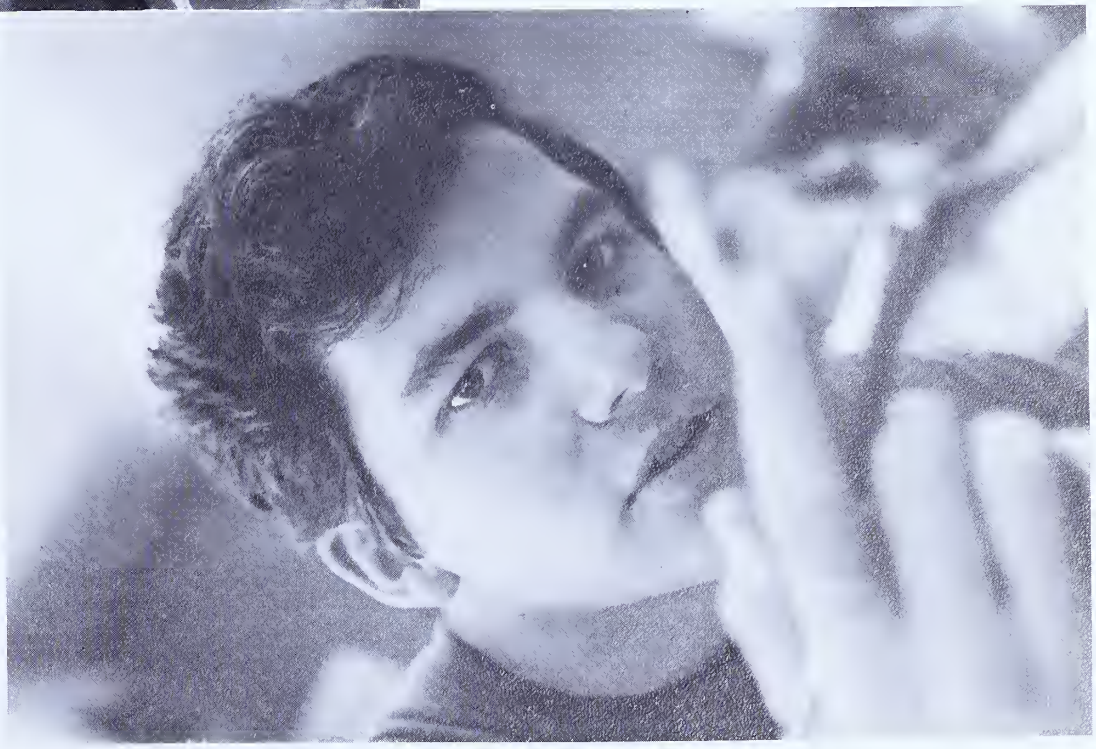
Our special thanks to everyone who aided the construction of the facilities for the newly formed Photography Department, and to those who in any way contributed their efforts thereto. It is hoped that this creative endeavor shall continue to prosper.



"None of this will ever work out!"

"You know, you're right."



"I told you so."

Each time a publication is produced or a new program is initiated here, it is the result of a great deal of student "brainstorming." The proposals of students are expressed, disputed by other students or faculty and administration members with schemes of their own, ranging from the wildly idealistic to the blatantly pragmatic, and somehow all of these ideas are assimilated into something dynamic and unique. This approach works, regardless of how precariously organized it may seem at times. Such was the production of this yearbook, to which Mr. Penn can well attest, having dealt with the madmen of the Yearbook Staff.

Yet the individuality of everyone, whom I've encountered here, has been of great significance to me. By having associated with this beautifully heterogeneous group of minds, I have experienced a wide spectrum of joys, sorrows, frustrations, dreams, and most importantly, different concepts of the meaning of life. Thus I take this opportunity to sincerely thank everyone that I've known at, or because of, Lick-Wilmerding for a time that was highly frustrating and highly rewarding, and a time that increased my ability to perceive the world.

Sincerely,

James E. Clarkson
